her fifth birthday, and during a visit to Hudson, Wisc., in 1952. Emilie died in a Catholic home at Ste. Agathe, Que., where she had gone for a rest. (NEA Telephotos)

Four Bus Riders Claim Injuries In Tillson Mishap

Driver of Omnibus Says Car on Wrong Side of Road; 7 Guard Posts Struck

Four bus passengers claimed minor injuries when an Adirondack Transit Lines bus and a passenger car collided on Route 32, south of Tillson, about 2:45 a. m. today, the sheriff's office reported.

The injured, who were taken to a doctor's office in Kingston for treatment, identified themselves to sheriff's men as:

Mrs. Tillie Hurwitz, 37, of 704 Coney Island avenue, Brooklyn, injuries to right knee and hip.

Rose Rosenberg of 223 Beret street, Brooklyn, injuries to both knees.

Mrs. Minnie S. Murphy, 57, of 21-17 45th road, Long Island City, injuries to left knee and mouth.

Charles Murphy, 79, same address, injuries to knees.

Was Rounding Curve

Deputies Thomas Mayone and John Kinstry reported the bus containing 32 passengers and driver, Harold Rhodes, 40, was traveling north on Route 32, rounding a sharp curve. Its left side was damaged.

The passenger car was owned by Kenneth Weaver, who gave his address as 315 Flatbush avenue, and driven by Clyde Bordman, 20, of Rosendale, according to the sheriff's office report.

Both sides of the car were badly damaged, deputies said.

Following the collision, the automobile crossed the highway and struck seven guard posts, according to the report.

Says Car on Wrong Side

Rhodes, the bus driver, told sheriff's men, he pulled his vehicle off the highway in an unsuccessful attempt to avoid the south-bound automobile which, he said, was on the wrong side of the road.

Investigation is being continued by the sheriff's office following Deputy Mayone's report that Bordman, said to be the driver of the passenger car, wandered away from the scene during the investigation and could not be located.

The bus was able to continue under its own power.

Kenneth Pangburn Serious As Six Teen-Agers Are Hurt

Six teen-agers were hurt, one of them seriously, in an automobile accident at Woodstock early today.

Kenneth Pangburn, 16, of 10 Clifton Terrace, was reported in "serious" condition at the Benedictine Hospital this morning. Sheriff's deputies and state police said he suffered lacerations of the face and legs when the automobile in which he was a passenger plunged through a picket fence and struck a tree on the property of Sigmund Menkes at the intersection of Rock City road and Glasco turnpike.

Also taken to the Benedictine Hospital was Robert Joseph Mannello, 17, of 149 Spring street, who suffered cuts of the chest and possible fractures, authorities said. Mannello's condition was listed as "fair."

Autopsy Ordered by Authorities; Monday Set for Burial

Montreal, Aug. 7 (AP)—An epileptic stroke caused the death of Emilie Dionne, one of the famed Callander quintuplets, Dr. Rosario Fontaine announced following an autopsy today.

Dr. Fontaine, Quebec's leading medico-legal expert, said the girl, who died after three strokes yesterday in Ste. Agathe, Que., had suffered from epilepsy for some time.

"The epileptic stroke was brought up by pulmonary congestion, particularly in the pituitary gland in the brain," the doctor said after a 1½-hour autopsy.

Autopsy Formality

The autopsy was described as a formality necessary because of the prominence of the 30-year-old girl, and the fact no doctor was present when she succumbed. She died at Ste. Agathe Hostel for old folks and retired Roman Catholic clergymen.

Dr. Fontaine completed the autopsy at 10:15 a. m. He immediately conferred with Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Girouard, elder sister and brother-in-law of Emilie and the other quintuplets.

Her body was moved under police escort 45 miles to the Montreal morgue. The autopsy, by the specialist, Dr. Rosario Fontaine, was set for today.

The girl's grieving family went ahead with plans for funeral services and burial Monday near the Dionne home at Callander, Ont.

Dispute on Polio

A dispute arose, meanwhile, over a surprise report that she had been stricken with polio as a child.

An elder sister, Mrs. Maurice Girouard, who arrived to take charge of the body, said yesterday Emilie had polio 17 years ago and since then had been afflicted with fainting spells. The sister explained she was not familiar with the medical term for the attacks but believed they were epileptic. Others who knew her also said she was a victim of epilepsy.

In Callander, a parish priest who acted as spokesman for her father, Oliva Dionne, said she died from a stroke. He said she had had a "weak spell" when she was 6.

"It was never diagnosed," he added, "but polio is out."

Would Use Women For Parking Tickets

Yonkers, Aug. 7 (AP)—To ease the pain of parking tickets, there is a plan under consideration here to appoint five women as full-time parking enforcement officers.

Public Safety Director Milton E. Goldman said yesterday in explaining his proposal to city officials that a feminine smile might go a long way with unhappy motorists, plus the fact that women officers would relieve male police for other duties.

Grover Studying Isotopes for Use At Tumor Clinic

Local Physician Among Select Group Taking Special Training at Oak Ridge

Dr. Milton M. Grover, Jr., director of the Ulster County Tumor Clinic, is taking a course on the techniques of using radioisotopes at Oak Ridge, Tenn., in preparation for later use of radioactive isotopes in the county, it was revealed today.

The course of four weeks is given by the special training division of the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies at Oak Ridge to advance knowledge in the safe and efficient use of radioisotopes.

The Ulster County Tumor Clinic, following this study, it was announced, intends to establish facilities for the use of radioactive isotopes.

Under auspices of the Atomic Energy Commission, which has extensive facilities at Oak Ridge, the courses include highly diverse experiments.

Topics dealt with are, use and calibration of instruments, purification and separation of radioactive materials from inert materials, purification and separation of radioactive elements from other radioactive materials application of radioisotope techniques, and absolute counting procedures.

Some Topics

Among seminar topics are radiological safety practices, radiochemical laboratory design and the effect of radiation on living cells.

Classes of 1½ to two-hour lectures, and daily laboratory periods are attended by a selected group of physicians, chemists, physicists and biologists.

Legion Cuts GS Backing In Illinois

Literature Criticized as Being Un-American; Charge Is Called 'Silly' by Opponents

Chicago, Aug. 7 (AP)—The Illinois American Legion has severed its support of the Girl Scouts of America, charging that "un-American influences" exist in the girl organization's literature.

Convention delegates took the formal action in a roaring voice vote last night after 90 minutes of lively debate in which opponents assailed the resolution as "silly."

A spokesman for the Girl Scouts denied the Legion's charges and termed the action "regrettable."

Charges in Resolution

The resolution charged: 1. That the Girl Scouts 1953 Handbook "gives the United Nations and one world citizenship precedence over American citizenship."

2. That the writings of unnamed alleged pro-Communist authors "have been highly recommended in an official Girl Scout's magazine as authentic historic material."

Lawrence J. Fenlon, former Illinois Legion commander who has two daughters in the Girl Scouts, led the opposition, declaring at one point:

"How screwy can we get?"

He contended the resolution smeared individual girl scouts as subversive. He said the Legion's action would bar the use of his home for troop meetings.

Aimed at 'Few'

But supporters of the resolution asserted it was aimed at "only a few people in the movement."

The vote to blast the girl scouts came after Edgar C. Bundy of Wheaton, a member of the Legion's anti-subversive commission, took the rostrum and asserted that a reproduction of the Bill of Rights appearing in the 1947 handbook had been deleted from the 1953 book.

The resolution states that the Legion's Illinois Department withdraws "all support" until such a time as "the responsible directors of the girl scouts of the U. S. A. give irrefutable proof to the American public that they have taken definite measures to eliminate these un-American influences from the Girl Scout Handbook and publications."

2,000 Vote

Some 2,000 delegates took part in the voice vote.

Florence Otto of Chicago, Great Lakes regional director of the Girl Scouts, said the allegations in the resolution "simply are not true."

Chicago spokesmen for the Girl Scouts issued a statement saying that changes were made in the handbook several months ago "clearing up in general points which have subjected us to misunderstanding," and that the new handbook would be available this fall.

The statement quoted Mrs. Roy F. Layton, national president, as saying such changes are being made. She also was quoted as denying that the Girl (Continued on Page 9, Col. 4)

Admits Crush

Mrs. Julie Lossman, shown entering a car in Cleveland, is said by police to have tearfully admitted that she once had a crush on Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard. Sheppard is under arrest in connection with the slaying of his wife.

Sheppard Lawyers Moving to Block Prelim Hearing

Claim Warrant Issued in Prejudice; Cite News Stories as Their Proof

Cleveland, Aug. 7 (AP)—Defense attorneys planned another legal maneuver today in their fight to block a preliminary hearing of a first degree murder charge against Dr. Samuel Sheppard.

They said they would file an affidavit of prejudice against the man who ordered him jailed — Gershom Barber, Bay Village Council president.

It was Barber, as acting mayor, who issued the warrant charging the young osteopath clubbed his 31-year-old wife Marilyn, to death in the bedroom of their Bay Village home July 4.

Sheppard, 30, blames the attack on "a bushy-haired stranger."

Timothy F. McMahon, one of Sheppard's lawyers, said "from what I've read in the newspapers, the statements Barber has made clearly indicate his prejudice." He didn't say what the statements were.

Both Sides Must Agree

Originally Barber set the preliminary hearing for this afternoon. Later it was continued to next Monday. Unless both sides agree, it cannot be postponed any further. The purpose of the hearing is to decide whether there is enough evidence to hold Dr. Sheppard for the grand jury.

Continuing their investigation, detectives last night took a lengthy statement from a 20-year-old Cornell University medical student who described himself as an admirer of Sheppard. They didn't tell reporters what they had learned from Gervase M. Flick, who had visited the doctor during the day.

But Flick, son of an osteopath at Bay View Hospital, where Sheppard practices, said he "gave them several leads."

McCarthy Vote Views Contrary On His Censure

Truman Is Major Adviser About Winning Congress

Gives Fighting Attitude to Leaders Out for Money to Sweep Democrats In Kansas City, Aug. 7 (AP)—If the Democrats capture control of Congress from the Republicans in November, they'll have to give a lot of credit to that old political warrior—former President Harry S. Truman.

Even though weak and wan from illness and an operation, it was the man from Independence, Mo., who gave the fighting tone to a meeting of Democratic leaders gathered here to map a money-raising drive to finance the coming campaign.

Truman drove here from his nearby home last night and urged a fighting campaign which he insisted would sweep the Democrats back into control of both the Senate and the House.

Raise Million

A few hours after the ex-President's pep talk, the Democrats upped their congressional campaign fund goal from $475,000 to a million dollars. Stephen Mitchell, national party chairman, said people from the grassroots "believed our plans were too small."

"It's obvious these people mean business," Mitchell said. "There are elements present today for a massive victory in this campaign."

He said these elements were (Continued on Page 10, Col. 3)

Ferguson Predicts That Senate Will Get Chance for Poll Before November

Check on Monday

Monroney Sees Delay on Showdown Until Late in Year

Washington, Aug. 7 (AP)—Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.) predicted today the Senate will get a chance to vote before the November election on the issue of censuring Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

But Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.) said in a separate interview he expects the intensified "political atmosphere" of the campaign for control of Congress to delay any such showdown until late in the year if not until next January.

The rival forecasts underlined the wide-ranging differences of view on Capitol Hill as a six-man committee drafted to probe censure charges against McCarthy went into recess over the weekend. Yesterday the bipartisan group picked Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) as chairman and decided to bar TV and radio from its forthcoming hearings.

To Meet Monday

Monday the special committee gathers again behind closed doors to go over a list of 46 specific accusations leveled at McCarthy by Sens. Flanders (R-Vt.), Fulbright (D-Ark.) and Morse (Ind.-Ore.), with an eye to weeding out charges that are minor or overlap.

McCarthy declared last night that at least two of the charges have already "fallen by the wayside." He named them as the accusations that he acted improperly toward Annie Lee Moss and toward Lawrence W. Parrish, both witnesses who have appeared before the Senate Investigations subcommittee he heads.

The special committee, composed of three Republicans and three Democrats, also will have to tackle some disputed points of procedure before it can get to the hearings stage. Still to be decided: Whether the hearings should be public, and whether McCarthy should have the right to cross-examine witnesses as he has demanded.

Protests Decision

Posse of 400 Is Hunting Man Who Shot 3 Policemen

Fugitive Believed Hiding in Woodlands on Peninsula Near Lake Placid

Lake Placid, Aug. 7 (AP)—A 400-man posse of police and volunteers ground slowly through the Lake Placid peninsula area today, fanning out in search of an armed desperado who wounded three policemen.

The fugitive, said to be armed with a .22 calibre rifle and a pistol was believed cornered in the woodlands last night.

Meanwhile, Patrolman Richard Pelkey, 31, was reported in critical condition in Saratoga Lake General Hospital. A hospital source said complications had developed from a chest wound the policeman received. He spent almost three hours undergoing surgery last night.

Surprised Him

Pelkey had been listed as a "less serious" condition than Patrolman J. Bernard Fell, who was wounded twice in the abdomen. Fell was listed as in (Continued on Page 10, Col. 3)

Saratoga Gambling Trial Shift Asked by Prosecution

Albany, Aug. 7 (AP)—The prosecution in the state-ordered investigation of gambling in Saratoga county says "the general air of hostility" toward the probe there makes it "impossible" to obtain a fair and impartial trial of a pending case.

Arthur H. Christy, a special assistant attorney general, yesterday asked the Appellate Division of State Supreme Court to shift the trial to another county, which he did not specify.

He said in a petition filed here that "bribery and corruption" had pervaded the political life of the county and that "witnesses stand in fear of reprisal and prevailing community opinion."

"The general air of hostility is so prevalent," he asserted, "that it would be impossible to secure a jury impartial in view and free from the political or economic influence of the 'bosses' of the county."

The petition asked a change of venue for the trial of Patrick J. Grennan, 62, of Schenectady, charged with extortion, gambling and conspiracy. He was indicted by a special grand jury working with the state probers.

Christy said that James A. Leary, the county's Republican leader, exercised "an extraordinary amount of political and economic influence over a substantial number of persons in the county."

He said Leary, who was acquitted on a perjury charge in connection with the investigation, had a familiarity with prospective jurors that was "a possible vehicle for improper influence."

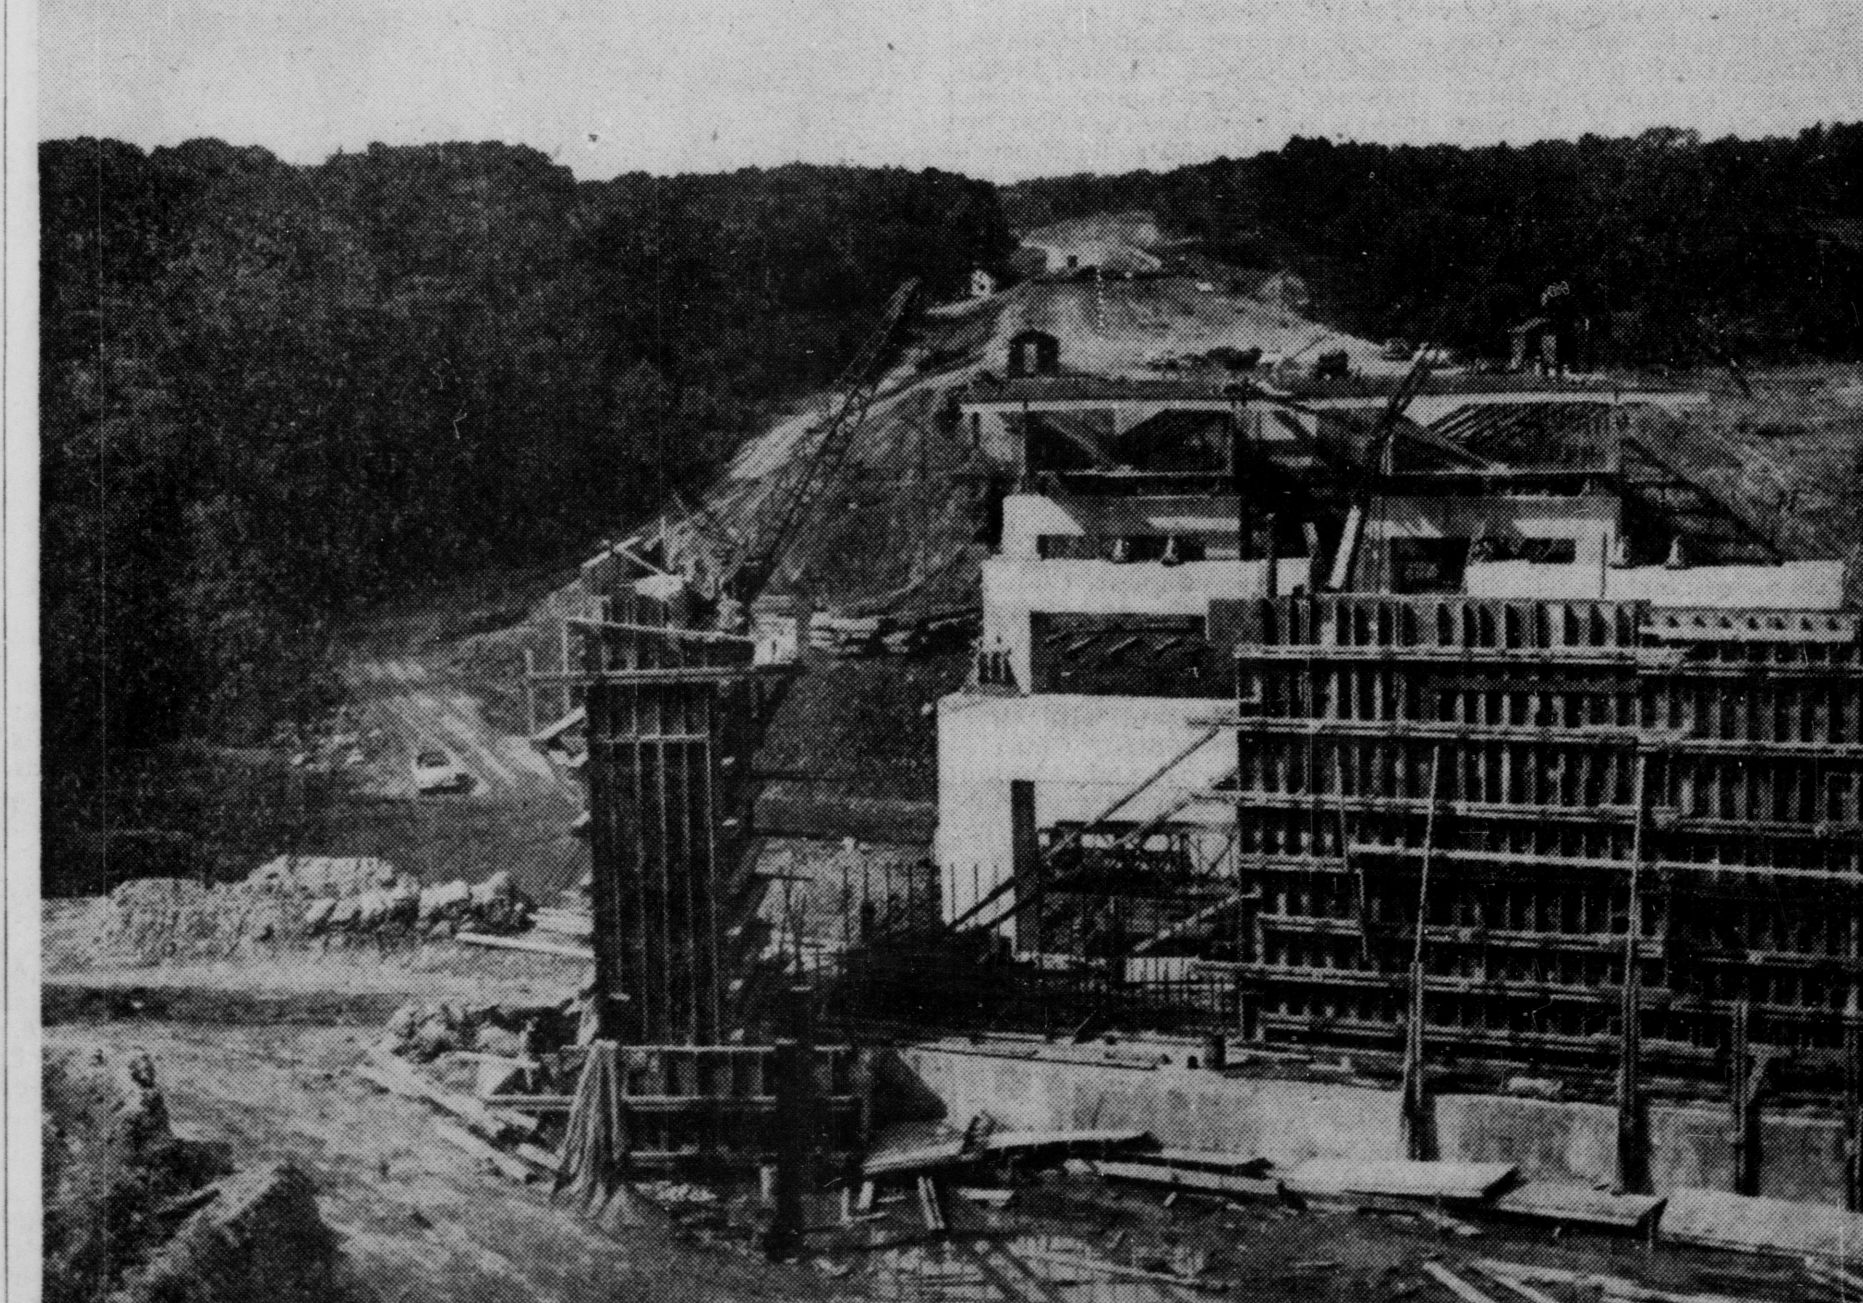

Christy said the Saratoga Springs Saratogian, the county's only daily newspaper, had attempted to prejudice the public against the probe through what he called a "hostile attitude and biased reporting."

The newspaper, he said, had made repeated references to the cost of the probe, adding: "Though most of the articles are carried under the byline of the Associated Press or GNS (Gannett News Service), the accumulative effect of repeated references to the cost of the investigation cannot help but have the effect of incurring the antagonism of the people of the county."

The Saratogian is one of the Gannett group of newspapers and is serviced by the GNS, Gannett's wire reporting agency.

Your Life And Mine

By DR. CLYDE H. SNELL

The Miracle of Courtesy

One day recently I drove my car out on the public pier at Provincetown on Cape Cod. (The pier there, as you may know, extends about an eighth of a mile out into Cape Cod Bay). I had just turned around and started back when I met, head-on, a big ten-wheeler truck that had come out on the pier after fish. With all of the conjunction of cars and machinery and sauntering people there was no room to pass. I worked my way into a niche on the side and was, I confess, a little anxious about the situation when I looked up at the cab window and the driver gave me a nice big round friendly smile.

That smile changed my feeling about the situation completely. I immediately became relaxed. All of my worries about what his great big truck might do to my little car vanished completely. I felt now that he and I together could work this problem out—which we did. That courteous smile of his worked a kind of miracle in me and, as far as I was concerned, it reduced the problem we faced to half its original size.

It is amazing, really, what a difference a little gracious kindness makes sometimes. It softens up resistance, it pushes barriers aside or scampers over them as though they did not exist. It conquers stubborn opposition, it wins friends. There is a Chinese proverb which states that "a man without a smiling face ought not to open a shop." Smiles bring customers back; grouches drive them away just as effectively as though we went after them with a whip-lash. Someone has said that "a sword will fall where a courtesy will prevail."

The fact of the matter is that no man ever gets quite all that is coming to him who goes out after his "rights" with a battle-axe kind of insistence. The universe arranges itself against him. But let a man arm himself with thoughtful courtesies and he gets his own with a beautiful dividend of good will added for gospel measure. The road I will get out of his way, if I can, just for the selfish reason of avoiding a smash-up. But if he needs more than his share of the road and wraps up his request in a nice big round sincere smile—as that truck driver did on a crowded pier the other day—I'll give it to him any time; and have fun doing it.

Agreement Is Made On Settling Canadians

New York, Aug. 7 (AP)—Canadian and New York state officials charged with building a power plant across the St. Lawrence river have agreed to go 50-50 on the cost of resettling Canadians who will be flooded out by the 600 million dollar project.

The agreement was announced yesterday by the New York State Power Authority and the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission.

The power project, to be completed within five years, will raise the level of the river by about 80 feet at the dam site and will displace some 6,000 persons, their towns and industries on the Canadian side.

No official figures were given on the cost of this flood damage, but spokesmen for both the authority and the commission indicated it would be around 65 million dollars.

Although most of the flood damage will be on the Canadian side, about 2,000 persons on the U. S. shore will have to leave their homes. Rehabilitation costs for these people were estimated at 13 million dollars. Yesterday's announcements did not say how this sum would be shared.

Canadians Face Largest Tax Lien

New York, Aug. 6 (AP)—The federal government has filed a nearly 30 million dollar tax lien—believed the largest in history of the Internal Revenue Service—against three Canadians.

Accused of trying to evade a total of $16,400,000 in taxes, the three are Albert L. McLennan, George W. Norgan and Isidore J. Klein, all of Vancouver, B. C.

The lien, filed yesterday, gives the government the top claim on assets of these men if and when it wins the tax case against them.

The three were indicted last May for trying to evade payment of taxes. They have never answered the charge. And they cannot be seized so long as they do not enter this country. Nor can the government extradite them from Canada against their will.

The amount of the lien is based on the alleged sum of the evasion, a 50 per cent penalty plus 6 per cent interest on back payments.

Dennis McMahon, director of Internal Revenue for the Second District, said the lien against each man amounts to $9,862,033.33. The government last Wednesday also filed a $4,068,967 lien against Hyman Harves Klein of Los Angeles, brother of Isador.

Cite Dummy Firms
The three men, for whom bench warrants have been issued, are accused of using an arrangement of dummy corporations in Panama and Cuba to evade taxes on profits from the sale of Canadian-manufactured hardware.

The indictment covers the years 1944 to 1946.

If convicted on all five counts in the indictment, each of the three could get up to 25 years in prison and a fine of $50,000.

The indictment against the three Canadians also accuses six others of attempted tax evasion. They are Ellis Rosenberg, Washington, D. C. attorney; Maurice H. Mount Vernon, N. Y., attorney and accountant; Morris O. Arkin, Brooklyn attorney; Irving A. Koerner, Great Neck, N. Y., and Albert Roer, Brooklyn.

All six have pleaded innocent to the charges.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Kingston Point Beach is not only on the front page of our local press, but it is the topic of conversation with most of the small fry and their parents. I have never seen the youngsters so excited about anything. Many of them have never been on a sandy beach, some knew only "going off the dock." Now down at Kingston Beach, Mayor Frederick H. Stang saw to it that there is a substantial float which can be reached from the beach. In my time, in high tide, only the good swimmers could make the float. When I first learned that the beach was being considered I didn't take too much interest, but when I drove down and saw our Kingston orange-colored trucks there and men working fast and furious and the road already widened considerably, I knew that the folks I saw in bathing suits in the water was not a mirage and that Mayor Stang meant every word he said. With now some 3,000 Kingstonians having found that they once again have a summer playground I think things will really hum and with Mayor Stang's energetic get-up and go while the summer is still with us is going to accomplish more than some mayors even dreamed off just before election. I appreciated the kind words Mrs. George Duffner of 98 Glen Street wrote in her letter to The Freeman published July 30 on my part in bringing back the beach to the people of Kingston, but all the thousand words I might have written over a period of years could not do what Mayor Stang did with a couple of well chosen words and a telegram to the owner of the beach and the cooperation of the men of the Public Works Department.

I remember back in my time we were all taught that we could not go in the water directly after we ate, we always had to wait about two hours. That seemed such a long time but it was a law among most of us against stomach cramps and we all survived very nicely many years of swimming. Also we were always told not to sit in the hot sun when wet for the wet drops act like a magnifying glass on the skin. I remember some swimmers who used to swim out to the raft and spend the whole hot afternoon there just to get a tan but all they got was a hot burn which kept them miserable for days. Even flowers wilt from too much hot sun. Also, we were always told never to swim "over our heads" unless with a good swimmer near us. Even then panic can overtake the best swimmer and then he is a goner. Swimming tubes are fine but they too are not a protection for those who cannot swim if they go in deep water.

Fun in the water should be confined to safe play, never "ducking your best friends or little children." This is not funny nor brave, and some youngsters never forget the feeling of swallowing water and having it rush unexpectedly into their nose and ears. Some foolish trickster can harm a child for life and he goes scot free. Swimming is an art and a pleasure to be enjoyed individually by all of us and Kingston Point Beach is as safe as the folks who use it will make it. Also, I hope the picnickers will confine their refuse to containers that no doubt will be placed on the beach. Never leave anything on the sand, like broken bottles or tin cans that may in any way cut anyone in bare feet. Many of us wore bathing shoes on the beach and took them off near the water.

Don't take the bidding of today's hand too seriously. It is given as though it actually happened by Pierre Albarran in his latest book "One Hundred Extraordinary Hands," but I'm inclined to believe that the hand is more extraordinary than real. The bidding is only a means of getting South into the fairly reasonable contract of three no-trump. This contract is defeated only when East appears to be taken with a fit of madness.

West opens the ace of clubs, and East throws away his ace of diamonds. West continues with the queen of clubs, dummy plays the king, and East now throws away the ace of spades.

After this remarkable series of plays, South can take two high spades, three high hearts, one high diamond and a club. As soon as South tries to develop either the spades or the diamonds, West will gain the lead and defeat the contract with his long clubs.

East's mad plays are, of course necessary to defeat the contract. If East keeps the ace of diamonds, South can lead a diamond from the dummy towards his king. East can win one diamond trick with the ace, but then South's king will clear up the rest of the suit. South will therefore make enough diamond tricks to guarantee the contract.

The effect of throwing away the ace of diamonds is to transfer the defenders' only diamond trick to West. The ace of diamonds is dead, but the queen of diamonds lives on.

This unusual play is still not enough to defeat the contract. Declarer can lead spades towards his hand, giving up one trick to the ace whenever East wants to take it. This shuts West out and gives South enough spade tricks to guarantee the contract.

East defeats this plan by throwing away his ace of spades. The defense is still sure of one and only one spade trick, but now it is West who wins that trick with the jack instead of East with the ace.

My suspicious nature prevents me from believing this hand ever took place, but I must concede Mr. Albarran on his lively imagination.

Don't Skimp on Doors

In small houses it is well to have doors at all openings, even between the hall and the living room. To be able to close the door on these rooms conserves that heat and increases the privacy.

For Cold Feet

Electrically heated rugs now take their place with the electronic blanket. They're designed for invalids, for use on floors where babies play or for those who suffer from cold feet.

Garage Dimensions

A garage that measures nine feet by 18 feet is usually ample to accommodate the average car. Doors should be seven feet high and not less than seven feet six inches wide.

Treasured Glass

When glass was first used for windows in England, the product was so valuable that householders took out the panes and packed them away safely when they went traveling on a holiday.

Journeying Painters

At one time the term "journeyman painter" was thought to have originated from the fact that, during the Renaissance, painters journeyed from country to country with their brushes.

Painters' Choice

Homeowners can "choose their weapons" when they are applying paint at home. They can use brushes, roller coaters or spray guns.

Gate Better Than Door

A closed gate to a child's room is better than a closed door as it keeps him safe but lets him see what's going on.

Evicting Wasps

If wasps have moved into the attic for the winter, here's how to get rid of them. Spray walls and window frames with a 5 per cent DDT solution.

Continued Work Needed to Prevent Chickweed Spread

Chickweed, unless ruthlessly suppressed, can become one of the most annoying weeds. Fortunately, it gives no trouble in the lawn if the turf is thick and cut regularly, but in flower beds, the vegetable garden and the rockery it thrives, especially if the soil is rich and contains abundant organic matter.

Chickweed is an annual — a winter annual to be specific. That means young plants will persist through the winter and come into bloom as early or even earlier than the snowdrops. With the flowers so small and inconspicuous the gardener does not realize that the earliest seeds mature well ahead of any other plant in the garden.

Complete removal of established plants now will cut down the progeny considerably, but unless weeding is continued right through the season there will be as many as ever. Cutting the plants is not enough except where they have not developed any flowers.

Colored Glass Shelves

Add color to your bathroom or kitchen by using colored plate glass shelving in place of the conventional transparent form. One manufacturer produces plate glass in several colors, including medium and dark blue, peach, golden and green.

Accident Prevention

Painting the edges of basement steps with luminous paint is a good accident prevention measure. This paint can be protected from wear by covering it with two thin coats of pure white shellac.

For Cold Feet

Electrically heated rugs now take their place with the electronic blanket. They're designed for invalids for use on floors where babies play or for those who suffer from cold feet.

Restful Colors

Color schemes play an important part in creating a restful atmosphere in a bedroom. Certain colors are especially suitable—blue, green and pink all have soothing qualities.

Garage Dimensions

A garage that measures nine feet by 18 feet is usually ample to accommodate the average car. Doors should be seven feet high and not less than seven feet six inches wide.

ALDRED

'Aldred' Charming Inside, Out

Rooms ..... Six
Bedrooms ..... Three
Garage ..... 3,800 ft.
Closets ..... Six
Cubage House ..... 27,600 ft.
Dimensions ..... 51' x 25'

Many a prospective home builder will be charmed by the exterior appearance of "The Aldred," today's Home of the Week. And, if these same prospective builders are looking for an interior layout in which good-sized rooms are arranged for comfort, convenience and ease of maintenance, they'll be equally delighted by the inside of this house.

At least a 100-foot lot will be required to build "The Aldred" because, while the house proper measures but 51 by 25 feet, the total length, including the attached garage is 78 feet. Cubage of the house itself is 27,600 feet; cubage of the garage is 3800 feet.

Exterior
You can use any type of finish for the attractive exterior of the house. In the accompanying illustration, brick is used on the house proper, while the shingles cover the garage. Painting the garage white to match the white trim and blinds on the house in an effective combination. An added touch of color and brightness can be given to the house exterior by multi-colored roofing.

Both inside and out, the picture window bay in the living room is the most distinctive decorative detail of "The Aldred." To this window area, the spacious living room owes much of its appeal — including its cheerful, well-lighted appearance. Plan your living room decorative scheme around the picture window bay, taking into consideration the fireplace in the left wall and the French door and two windows looking out on the back terrace.

Bedrooms
Two regular bedrooms are located in the right wing. If you need a third bedroom, however, the room specified as the den or guest room can serve your purpose very nicely.

Although the kitchen is rather small, it does contain enough space for a cozy breakfast nook. The dining room proper is so conveniently near to the kitchen that you'll easily be able to serve your family's meals there. You'll find the china closets, built into the front corners of the room, convenient storage places for your tableware.

Closets
Inclusion of both a regular bathroom and a lavatory is another example of the careful planning used throughout. So also are the seven conveniently located closets.

With the laundry located in the house proper only the best plan must be installed in the basement; this should be placed under the living room.

Blueprints Available
Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost. For plan prices, write to the Home Building Editor, The Kingston Daily Freeman, and enclose a self-addressed, 3c stamped envelope. Allow 7 to 10 days for a reply.

Color Tricks

When mixing paint colors, remember that you can warm up a "cold" color by adding a dab of red or yellow. A little blue, green or violet will "cool off" a too-warm hue.

Mulch for Roses

Mulch roses with peat moss, bean straw or stable manure. This mulch will help retain moisture and keep down weeds. It also improves the soil and keeps the surface feeder roots active.

Eat 'Em Quick

One expert says that garden crops which are eaten raw should not be harvested more than 10 minutes before they are used, and other crops not more than half an hour before they are cooked.

New Devices For Applying Paint Appear

While paint manufacturers have been working overtime to improve their products, the makers of equipment for applying paint have not been idle and they've come up this spring with several new devices to speed painting operations.

The popular paint rollers are now available in new shapes and forms, with new fabrics used for their "sleeves." A long one with a deep nap is designed especially for painting wire fences. Others have extension handles that make it easier to reach high on a wall.

Inaccessible spots that often stump painters have inspired several other new gadgets. One is a flat applicator, four or five inches wide, hinged to a long stick so it can be slid behind radiators and other similar obstructions.

Another flat applicator that is smaller is made for the neat painting of putty and the millions of windows as well as other places where special care is called for. There's also a new brush with a pivoted handle and one with a handle like the "gooseneck" on a lamp.

More paint will be sprayed on this year, too. Reasonably-priced portable compressors make spray painting practical for the home owner. The aerosol spray containers, holding both clear coatings and a variety of colors, are also becoming more widely available. Pressured by Freon — the same thing that makes your refrigerator cold — the spray comes out in a fine, even mist that dries very smoothly on the surface.

Desk-Chest Solves Problem of Space

Every home needs a desk, and where space is a problem, and every piece of furniture must perform double duty, the desk-chest provides a highly satisfactory solution. An attractive desk-chest, selected in a color tone to harmonize with other furnishings, could be used advantageously in a living room, dining room or even a bedroom. Other space-saver possibilities in the desk line include the bachelor chest with a pull-out writing shelf, or the charming credenza, with its drawer-like desk and cabinets below.

In most homes, more than one desk is required. The man of the house may need a desk which would be placed in the living room or in a corner of the bedroom if the home isn't large enough for a separate study or den.

When there are children of school age, unfinished furniture will provide needed working surface for doing homework, bookshelves and drawer space. Desks, chest, bookcases in this inexpensive type of furniture may be stained, painted or lacquered.

THE PRICE OF FREEDOM

Mrs. Geza Kapus is a woman who knows the price freedom can cost and yet she is convinced that it is worth it.
She and her husband recently became the first European adults admitted to the United States under the refugee relief act of 1953. The story of her journey to freedom is an inspiring one.
The Gezas escaped with their daughter from Hungary. Crawling across the barbed-wire protected border Mrs. Geza tripped on a land mine. Her leg had to be amputated. Their daughter was sent to America to live with an aunt.
When the Gezas arrived in this country they were extremely happy. Her comment should be read by all Americans who sometimes take their liberty for granted:
"The price one pays for freedom is never too high . . . I shall be happier with one leg in America than I would have been with two in Communist Hungary . . . In America wounds are healed, tears are dried and hunted people given a new chance."
These are beautiful words of tribute. It is the duty of all Americans to keep this the kind of country that will inspire such hope and faith in the hearts of the oppressed who have no other place to turn for hope.

HOOVER'S BIRTHDAY

August 10th is the eightieth birthday of Herbert Clark Hoover, one of our two living ex-presidents. Despite his eighty years Mr. Hoover is still a vigorous man, able to take part in public affairs.
Few presidents in our history served through more difficult days and few received less thanks for his services. Americans were baffled and bewildered by the Great Depression—a land of plenty and wealth had suddenly turned into a land of want and misery. People always tend to oversimplify the causes of their problems—it was easier to place the blame on President Hoover than it was to find the economic causes that led to our downfall. Mr. Hoover never dropped his dignity, never grew bitter at his critics. He has lived long enough to see the shadow pass from his name and to come into the esteem and affection of his countrymen.
At eighty he is an elder statesman, admired and respected by the very people who once linked his name with all their woes.

GATE ATTRACTION

Not since the Giant pitcher Carl Hubbell has the National League had a ball player whom crowds paid to see as American League crowds once paid to see Babe Ruth. Jackie Robinson, the first Negro player admitted to the big leagues, drew throngs from his own race. Now Willie Mays, also a Negro, is attracting thousands of fans, white as well as Negro.
Mays is an all-around ball player—a great hitter and an excellent fielder capable of making the spectacular catch that thrills crowds. As experienced and cynical a baseball figure as his manager Leo Durocher has called Mays "the greatest ball player I have ever seen." While Durocher may be pardoned for his enthusiasm, the statement is exaggeration. But Mays is quite a player and he draws crowds.
The American League used to surpass the National in players with box office appeal. Players like Joe DiMaggio, Feller, and others who played after Ruth, attracted fans anxious to see them perform. It now appears that the lead in this respect has passed to the National League.

NO CAUSE FOR PANIC

A heart attack is serious, but need not be utterly dismaying. Dr. Herman K. Hellerstein of Western Reserve University says that the victims of a first attack have a 90 per cent chance of recovery, and that as soon as the crisis is over, the patient should think of returning to his job. Not that he can do it right away, but the idea will help his recovery. Dr. Hellerstein says that of 625 heart cases studied at his clinic, 80 per cent have gone back to work. Support for

CENSORSHIP BY INDIRECTION

In the 1952 campaign, the Democrats made a great to-do about the One Party Press. Of course, there is no such thing in this country. American newspapers have been called all sorts of names from the "Uptown Daily Worker" to the "Wall Street Kept Press," but the truth is not in such phrases. In fact, even inside the pages of each newspaper that is not strictly propagandistic, there are great differences in the presentation and interpretation of identical facts.

What brings this up is the testimony of Representative Martin Dies before the Jenner Committee. Dies is describing the hoax put over by some Left Wing reporters that Dr. J. B. Matthews testified before the old Dies Committee, nearly 20 years ago, that Shirley Temple was a Communist. Matthews did not say such things. He had actually said that a message appeared in "Ce Soir" in Paris which bore many names, none of which was related to a Communist, and that among them was the name of Shirley Temple. Matthews had used that as an example of how the Communists abuse innocent people.

Dies was incensed. And here is his story of what happened on radio:
"Immediately I asked for time on the radio. NBC wouldn't let me have the time. They told me frankly they were afraid of executive influence. Columbia wouldn't let me have the time."
Then I got the time at Mutual, but Mutual weakened at the last moment and finally said to me, "You have got to submit your manuscript because Michelson has insisted that we let Paul Anderson follow you on the radio, and he is speaking for the White House and the White House wants you to surrender your manuscript to Paul Anderson."

"I said, 'I am not going to do it.' I said, 'I have been attacked all over the country. I am entitled to go on the air and I am not going to submit the manuscript.'"
"For time it looked as though I would not be permitted to go on the air. Finally I did go on the air, and I just simply read the testimony, the transcript, to show the people that it (the Shirley Temple story) was not true."
The radio industry ought to take this testimony seriously because it is a direct accusation that radio connives at accepting censorship. Here is sworn testimony which is either true or Martin Dies has committed perjury. I was recently told that one of the most prominent nation-wide commentators lost a great many local outlets because he "told the truth," as his friends put it, about the McCarthy hearings. Rightist commentators have difficulty finding sponsors, although Rightist commentators have, in the aggregate, more newspapers than the Left Wing commentators. If they do so well in the newspapers, why do they have so much trouble getting sponsors on radio?

If Charles Michelson, who was Roosevelt's press agent, could require a radio network to submit a Congressman's manuscript to an antagonistic newspaperman, is it possible that similar operations are in practice today? Does that explain the difficulties of Right Wing commentators on radio and television? They are regarded as controversial, but the Left Wingers are not controversial. How come?
The other night, at an after midnight party, I listened to an explanation of how best-seller lists are manipulated to favor Leftist authors. I resolved never again to look at a best seller list unless printed along each listing are the figures of total sales up-to-date. As a matter of fact, some of the books listed sell fewer copies than books that are only listed once or not at all.
Who organizes these queer operations? Martin Dies's report of his experience with radio is similar to reports I have heard from other public men. Only two television companies were willing to show the whole, unedited McCarthy-Stevens hearings, the American Broadcasting Company and Du Mont. The National Broadcasting Company gave only the Stevens testimony; Columbia gave an unedited version. The late-at-night edited version omitted what they did not want the people to see, on the firm ground that they had to cut out something, and they used their own judgment. That is an editorial prerogative and risk.
It would be interesting to hear what the radio companies have to say about Martin Dies's sworn testimony.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

A WORD TO THE AGING PARENT

Yesterday we discussed some of the problems which arise with the aging parent and we'll continue today with some words of advice to the aging parent who goes to live with a grown son or daughter and family. You, the parent, have the biggest adjustment to make and it comes at a difficult time of life for you. This is the reason we so strongly recommend that older persons should cling to their own home as long as they can. Perhaps this could be accomplished by your children providing a weekly cleaning woman or a visiting housekeeper to help with the heavier domestic chores. Perhaps they could do your shopping for you. Perhaps provide a telephone by your bedside which may be an actual lifesaver some day in summoning aid and is always a welcome link with family friends.
However, if circumstances are such that you must move in with one of your children, remember they will want to continue to live in their own home in their own way, while you will have to "fit in." So:
1. Try not to criticize your children's way of life, however much it irks you; don't offer advice unless asked.
2. Don't hark back to the "good old days" unless you can tell an interesting story about them. The younger generation have to live in their own time and it irritates them to be told how much better things were in your day. Some things may have been, but they know that other things were not—medical science for one. Make an effort to see ways in which life (even housekeeping) has improved since your time.
3. Have fun with your grandchildren; you can enjoy them more than your own children because you are not responsible for their discipline; but don't disregard family rules which have been set down for them by their parents.
4. Try to keep up a life of your own — keep up with your old friends and make new ones if you can. Cultivate some personal interests such as reading, music, a course of study, a handicraft. This will help you with the next suggestion.
5. Pay attention to your looks and dress. Don't become careless about them.
6. Don't DEMAND consideration because you are older. Don't indulge in self pity and lean on others. Give and take in conversation.
I agree these suggestions are difficult but they will reward you well if you will give them a real trial and make living happier for you and those around you.

Forgive Us If We Don't Seem to Get Interested

Larenn's Washington News Notebook

Washington, (NEA)—Charles E. Wilson, the industrial genius who left the presidency of General Motors to become Secretary of Defense for President Eisenhower, has begun to exert a new and unexpected influence on top-level Administrative thinking.
Everyone assumed that his sole mission was to infuse some industrial-type efficiency into the complex operations of the three services. And he and Roger Kyes, the aggressive first assistant he brought here with him, did just that.
They got rid of useless boards and committees. They weeded out civilian deadheads who had been drawing big salaries and merely contributing to red tape. They built a fire under long-delayed plans for reorganizations of the army and navy.
Their most important contribution in their first few months in office was putting the air force's aircraft procurement system on a business basis.
It had been chaotic, with no one sure just how many and what kinds of planes were on order and with the production of already-obsolete planes continuing merrily along.

As significant as all of these accomplishments was the restoration of positive civilian control of the gigantic military structure for the first time since before World War 2.
About the time Kyes left to return to private industry, Wilson's outlook began to broaden perceptibly. There was no connection. Kyes said he was leaving because he thought he had finished his job of helping Wilson to at least get the Pentagon on the road toward more efficiency.
Most observers have accepted this explanation at face value. The change which has taken place in Wilson since then has been a shift from looking at military matters through the eyes of an efficiency expert to examining them as a philosopher.

It's this philosopher's approach, apparently based on his mature years and experience and a lack of political ambition, which is making itself felt in top-level thinking.
The most startling observation Wilson has made, which reflects this attitude, was dropped almost unnoticed at a recent press conference. He was asked:
"Can we prevent the creeping Communist type of aggression by military action or by a military posture?"
He replied:
"If our army had been twice as big as it is, and the navy had twice as many ships afloat, and we had a couple of hundred wings of modern fighter airplanes it wouldn't have changed a single thing that has happened in the last year and one-half that I can see. Another 10 or 15 per cent or 20 per cent buildup in the military part of our country isn't the answer to this thing. It is in other areas."

Pressed for what he meant by "other areas" he replied:
"If I had a real clear program on that now it would be quite a thing. But the men of good will in the world in all nations are going to have to come up with something before too many years."
At the same time Wilson went firmly on record to repudiate talk by some military brass urging a preventive war, saying:
"We have had two world wars in my time. We haven't discovered how to establish a stable peace after those wars, and I don't think a third world war is any answer to the problem of the world."
"I think if we started to study the kind of things that it would take to establish a stable peace after a third world war, and start to do those things now, maybe you'd never have to have the war."

At about that point a reporter remarked:
"Sounds like co-existence, Mr. Secretary."
He shot back:
"I don't like to get confused over words. Do you mean co-existence or co-habitation?"
When asked what the U. S. could do to "cool off the friction in the world," he answered:
"Make sure that we don't overly emphasize our theories. I don't think we do push them on people, but we are a little naive sometimes. We think that all we have to do is free the people over the world and they will go ahead and run a free society like we do, or like the other members of the free world that have long records of free institutions to back up their types of society."

Wilson has previously said:
"We cannot knock out false ideas with bullets; we must counter and destroy them with the truth, with superior ideas and sound philosophy."
So They Say..

I don't think anything put out by the army is dishonest.
—Maj.-Gen. Cornelius E. Ryan.
Where is a new, enlarged supply (of teachers) to come from . . . if thoughtless and extravagant attacks discourage young people from going into teaching?
—Harvard President Pusey.
As we shook hands to part, I thought I was shaking hands with Mister History (Sir Winston Churchill).
—Evangelist Billy Graham.

Moscow Arrests Two U. S. Embassy Aides

Washington, Aug. 7 (AP)—Two American Embassy aides in Moscow were arrested and held three hours by Soviet police, the State Department announced last night. The action was "strongly protested."
The department said the two were illegally detained for allegedly photographing the Stalin auto works. In a note to the Soviet foreign office, the American Embassy asked disciplinary action against the police involved.
Arthur Hasler, an assistant naval attaché, and Miss Joyce Marshall, an embassy translator, were arrested in an unrestricted area on the outskirts of Moscow, the department said in a statement.
Police confiscated film in their cameras and drafted a paper regarding the incident which the Americans refused to sign, saying the films would prove they had not photographed any prohibited object.
The two were released after the embassy intervened, the department said.

Giant Front Office Expresses Regrets

The New York Giant Rookies have been forced to cancel tonight's game with the City League All Stars because of schedule commitments in the New Jersey state tournament of the American Baseball Congress.

President Fred Davi of the City League received notice of the cancellation late last night and was unsuccessful in efforts to book a substitute team.

Confirmation of the cancellation was made by the Giant front office which expressed regret and said it would definitely send the Rookies to Kingston later in the month.

Manager Ed Kram of the Rookies said that re-arrangement of the New Jersey schedule was caused by postponements because of rain earlier this week.

The Rookies are scheduled to play a night game tonight and a doubleheader Sunday at Perth Amboy, if they continue winning.

BIG GAME AHEAD: Members of the Kingston Police Department's baseball team greet the camera man in an informal mood while looking ahead to the baseball game with the Ulster County Bar Association on Thursday, Aug. 26, at Dietz Stadium. ## Grimm Sees Braves As Pennant Threat Though 91½ Behind

By BEN PHLEGAR
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Charlie Grimm says he has the best team in the National League and he thinks it can win the pennant.

Even when confronted with figures which show he should be arrested for violating the law of averages if he's right, the Milwaukee manager maintains his confidence.

"Sure we're pretty far behind," Grimm agrees, "but we're still definitely in the race and with almost seven weeks to go we could do it."

Need 40 Victories

If the Giants maintain their pace they will end up with a 98-56 season record. To catch up, the Braves would need to win at least 40 games. Then they still have to deal with the Brooklyn Dodgers, 5½ games in front of them.

The Braves took a big step last night by whipping the Giants 6-5. In doing so, they took some personal revenge on Johnny Antonelli, who was shooting for his 12th straight victory and third straight over the Braves.

Antonelli, prize package in the winter deal that sent Bobby Thompson from the Giants to the Braves, was pounded for five runs on six hits. He left in the fourth inning. One more run off relief man Al Worthington was enough to allow the Braves to withstand a home run barrage by the Giants. Al Dark hit a pair and Ray Katt and Dusty Rhodes hit one each, but all four came with the bases empty.

Brooklyn clipped Cincinnati 8-1, Philadelphia defeated Chicago 7-4 and the lowly Pittsburgh Pirates slapped down St. Louis twice, 7-3 and 6-5.

Tribe Holds Lead

The pennant picture remained unchanged in the American League. Cleveland defeated Philadelphia 7-3, New York shaded Detroit 4-3 and Chicago trounced Washington 10-5.

Boston edged Baltimore 3-1 in 10 innings on Ted Williams' 20th home run with a man on base.

Russ Meyer and Jackie Robinson teamed up for the Brooklyn victory. Meyer pitched a three-hitter, his first complete game in Brooklyn this season, and Robinson drove in three runs with a home run, double and single.

Curt Simmons of the Phillies outlasted the Cubs for his 10th victory. Two doubles by Bobby Morgan and a two-run triple by Richie Ashburn helped triple.

Preston Ward drove in three runs in each Pittsburgh victory over the surprised Cardinals, a homer with two aboard in the first and a three-run triple in the nightcap. Dick Littlefield stayed the distance for his seventh victory in the opener.

Cleveland won with ease over the Athletics as Mike Garcia registered his 13th triumph on an eight-hitter.

The Yanks did it the hard way at Detroit, coming from two runs behind on Gil MacDougald's grand slam home run in the eighth. Bob Nieman made it close with a pinch homer in Detroit's half of the eighth.

Virgil Trucks, still suffering with a bad back, won his 16th of the season at the expense of the Senators but it took a five run rally by his mates in the eighth to give him the decision.

SPORTS

By Charles J. Tiano

Death of Bill Holmes, three-time Ulster county singles champion, came as a shock to local tennis followers. Until young Marty Kantowitz came along, Holmes was the undisputed master of the local tennis scene. A man with a brilliant athletic background and engaging personality, he did much to put tennis in the spotlight. He came along at a time when tennis had slumped far below pre-war levels but was regarded as a topnotch champion who could have played with the best of the city ever produced. His passing focuses the attention of tennis fans on the newer crop of players. He will be missed by his many friends in and out of the sports world.

Andy Varipapa, the former world bowling champion, doesn't agree with many experts who insist Marion Ladewig, several time woman champion, could defeat some of the top pros. "I take nothing away from Marion," he says, "She is without question the greatest woman bowler of all time, but the girls roll against 3 pound and 3 pound, 2 oz. wood and that makes a difference. Against 3 pound 6 ounce pins, it would be quite a different thing." Varipapa's sentiments coincide with a statement attributed recently to Little Mo Connolly, the undisputed woman ruler of the tennis world. Asked if she felt she could beat some of the top men "name" players of the day, the little female champion modestly blurted: "I wouldn't stand a ghost of a chance against any of the top men players."

Of Men and Mice:

Best gag of the new bowling season is a report that Jones Dairy's powerhouse would not use alleys 7 and 8 at the Bowldrome for the 1954-55 Hudson Valley campaign. Woodstock Country Club women suffered a tough break this week when rain virtually wiped out their invitational golf tournament. After working days on the project and assembling the most spectacular array of prizes this writer has ever seen, the ladies saw dazzling weather on Monday, a deluge on Tuesday and beautiful weather on Wednesday.

The Customers Always Write:

The following quotes are attributable to Hank Carter, veteran baseball player, via the mails:

"I am as you know a little older than Jack Benny's 39 years, and have played some baseball and a little softball. I have seen a few big league and a few Little League games. However, last week one night, I had occasion to attend a game in one of our local parks between two teams in the softball league. When the umpire said "play ball," he took a small memo pad and pencil from his pocket and proceeded to keep track of balls, strikes, etc., on it. When he brushed off home plate, he used a six-inch clothes brush. No, it wasn't Al Schacht. It was an official umpire. I've seen them use coins, a stick to mark it on the ground, but this is the first umpire I ever saw use a pad and clothes brush for the job. What is our national pastime coming to? Oh, well, perhaps it's me. . . ."

Craft Is Pitching, Batting Star in 4 to 1 Victory

Gives Only Four Hits, And Bats '3 for 3'

A courageous Saugerties Little League squad that plays its best under pressure met Poughkeepsie for the District 4 crown in a game scheduled to start today at 2 p. m. at Little League Stadium.

The villagers came from behind yesterday to capture the sub-District title with an impressive 4 to 1 victory over Highland.

Craft Hurls 4-Hitter

Little Terry Craft, a red hot pitcher and hitter, stopped Highland cold with four hits and collected three singles in a "3 for 3" performance. Craft didn't issue a walk and struck out four. Phillips walked two and fanned three.

Johnny Snyder, Saugerties shortstop, hit a double for the only extra base blow of the game. Walt Sparling, Frank Florio and Bill Clements contributed singles. George Schreiber collected two singles for Highland. John Brenni and Roger Skipp had the others.

Losers Score First

Saugerties spotted Highland the first run in the second inning and had a few moments of adversity in the early going. But once they settled down behind Craft, who has all the pitching mannerisms and guile of a right handed Preacher Roe, there was no question of their superiority.

The villagers tied the score 1-1 in the fourth and then scored strong-armed Bill Phillips for three runs and the ball game in the fifth. Phillips hurt his own chances with wild pitches but the Saugerties batters didn't flinch before his swifty pitches. They dug in and drilled seven hits, most of them with authority.

Misses Shutout

Craft missed a shutout by the margin of a squeaker call on a third out in the second inning. With a Highland runner on third and two outs an infield grounder resulted in a bang-bang play at first with the Highland runner safe by an eyelash and a run across the plate. That's all they got.

Saugerties got the equalizer in the fourth when Craft led off with a single, went to second on a wild pitch and reached home on an infield out and Phillips' second wild pitch of the inning.

Three singles by Frank Florio, Walt Sparling and Craft, an error and passed ball accounted for three Saugerties markers in the fifth.

Craft held firm the last four innings and the game ended with left fielder Walt Sparling making a nice catch of DiCapua's long shot near the wall.

Sheppard Lawyers

found Mrs. Margot Pebbles, 32, a nurse, could tell them nothing about Dr. Sheppard's past. She denied knowing the doctor and Lieut. Thomas Cochill of the Detroit Police Department said a lie detector test confirmed her truthfulness.

The nurse had worked for a Los Angeles osteopath several years ago when Dr. Sheppard was studying in that city.

Mrs. Pebbles was one of five women police tried to link with Sheppard in an attempt to show a motive for the slaying of the doctor's pregnant wife.

Sacramento, Aug. 7 (AP)—Gov. Goodwin Knight brought his pretty bride home to the executive mansion yesterday and carried her across the threshold three times. The first was for tradition, he said. The others were for press photographers. "I love the dignity," the new Mrs. Knight exclaimed at her first look at the 77-year-old mansion. The 57-year-old governor, a widower for two years, and the former Mrs. Virginia Carlson, a war widow, left their honeymoon yacht at Balboa and flew here in time for Knight to attend the Republican state convention.

POW Awaits Trial

Lexington, Tenn., Aug. 7 (AP)—A former Korean prisoner of war, his dream of being sheriff shattered, sat quietly in a cell today awaiting trial on a charge of murder. James A. His brother, 31-year-old Roy, wounded by two state highway patrolmen during the manhunt, was in fair condition at a hospital in nearby Jackson, Tenn. The manhunt was ordered after a wild gunfight in which Lexington Patrolman Arthur Gurley, 50, was killed and Police Chief Clovis Stanfill critically wounded.

Gallantry Results In Fatal Stabbing

New York, Aug. 7 (AP)—Gallantry in Brooklyn early today brought on a fight that left one man stabbed to death and another critically injured.

Police said the brawl started when two men standing on a street corner made slurring remarks about some passing girls. Three other men objected, they said, and the fight ensued.

The dead man was identified as William Saunders of Brooklyn, 26, one of those who objected to the remarks. In critical condition in Kings County Hospital was his brother John, 20 of Manhattan.

Police arrested Eugene Hillard, 21, of 480 Watkins street, and charged him with homicide. They said he was one of those who made the offensive comments.

Three Freed Priests Arrive in Hong Kong

Hong Kong, Aug. 7 (AP)—Three American priests, released by the Chinese Communists as a result of the Geneva Conference, reached Hong Kong tonight from Yunnan, Hunan Province.

They were the Reverends Linus Lombard of Ipswich, Mass., Earnest Hotz of Brooklyn and Lawrence Mullin of Jersey City.
The Catholics, who were confined to Yunnan but never arrested, said here is much purging of Communist officials going on now. This, they said they thought, is in line with central committee orders for greater party rectitude and a subsequent order abolishing the regional administrative districts with their heavy loads of bureaucrats.

Reward Is Offered To Clear John Case

Bonn, Germany, Aug. 7 (AP)—The West German government offered a reward of 500,000 marks ($119,000) today for information that will clear up the strange disappearance of its former security chief, Dr. Otto John.
Government officials voiced hope this huge reward would lure some East German Communist who knows the true details of the John case to desert to the West.

The offer holds good until Oct. 31, 1954.

John, who headed the Office for the Protection of the Constitution—the West German FBI—crossed over to East Berlin July 20.

The east zone government said Wednesday it had given the former security chief asylum at his request.

Market Prices Tumble After Two Days of Heavy Selling

New York, Aug. 7 (AP)—The Stock Market declined this week in the most hectic five sessions in more than three years.

On Monday and Tuesday, the market appeared to be headed for its eighth consecutive advance. Proposed mergers in the steel industry, reorganization of several railroads and record earnings by aircraft companies combined to push many stock prices to their highest levels since 1929.

Wednesday started off like another record-breaking day as aircraft, steel and railroads in the lead of the advance. But then rumors began to filter through Wall Street brokerage houses that the Bethlehem Steel merger with Youngstown Sheet & Tube was falling through.

Profit-taking started among the steels and spread throughout the rest of the market. The high speed ticker tape fell behind for half an hour and prices tumbled. But such was the vigor of the market, helped mainly by demand for medium and low priced issues, that a recovery movement that day carried the market back almost to where it had begun.

Wednesday proved to be a crucial session in the week's developments because it produced a more cautious attitude on the part of many investors. They saw their profits of the past few weeks wiped away in a half hour. Those profits reappeared by the end of the day. But it must have been a thought provoking session to many.

On Thursday the market became highly selective. Profit taking appeared among the high priced stocks. But buying of medium and low priced issues was plentiful enough to produce a completely mixed close.

After the market closed Thursday, the nation's third major automobile maker, Chrysler Corp., cut its dividend in half. Admittedly this was bad news, though financial circles were not taken by surprise. The stepped-up competition in the auto industry has been well advertised. It was just the sort of news that the market had been ignoring for nearly two months.

Many Orders to Sell

Friday morning, sell orders for Chrysler poured into brokerage houses. Rumors passed between brokers that there were as many as 15 or 20 thousand orders to sell this traditionally stable security. The ticker tape ran late for two brief periods as investors hurried to take profits.

When Chrysler opened nearly three hours after the start of business at 60 1/4 off 4 1/2 points on 35,000 shares, another selling wave took place. This time the tape was late for 35 minutes and prices fell two, three and four points. Late in the afternoon, prices began to improve. But the market couldn't muster the buying power for another recovery.

Causes of Decline

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off $1.40 on the week at $131.80. Industrials and railroads were the cause of the decline. Utilities remained steady.

Volume for the week totaled 15,943,400 shares compared with 13,049,021 last week. It was the busiest week since that of Jan. 20, 1951, when 18,220,000 shares changed hands.

The five most active issues this week will be the New York Stock Exchange, which was off 1 1/2 points; Avco, which was off 1 1/2 points; General Dynamics, which was off 1 1/2 points; Curtiss Wright, which was off 1 1/2 points; and Chrysler, which was off 1 1/2 points.

The five most active issues on the American Stock Exchange were: Equity, which was off 3 1/2 points; Cessna Aircraft, which was off 2 1/2 points; North American Oils, which was off 1 1/2 points; Pacific Petroleum, which was off 1 1/2 points; and Webb & Knapp, which was off 1 1/2 points.

Truman Is Major

disillusionment and bitterness about the present administration and a new and higher value that people have placed on the Democratic party. Mitchell said he was convinced "people think they will be better off with the Democratic party in control of Congress."

Will Be Active

Truman said he planned to take an active part in the campaign.

"I'll do as much as I can to elect a Democratic ticket, and whatever I can do I will do."

Truman was the star of the gathering and Adlai Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, seemed pleased to step aside and let the spotlight play on the man who once was President.

Truman came to the meeting carrying a black ebony cane given to him by President Syngman Rhee of Korea. His face was pallid from the many days indoors. But there was a surprising vigor in his step and spring—but for the most part he seemed content to conserve his strength.

As for Stevenson, he left Kansas City for Omaha, Neb., without giving a hint as to his availability for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1956.

Asked if he would be a candidate for the nomination, Stevenson replied: "Even if I knew, I just don't believe I'd tell you. But I don't know myself."

Emilie Dionne

known as the most carefree of the five when they were youngsters. The girls celebrated their 20th birthdays together last May 28.

The four survivors—Yvonne, Marie, Cecile and Annette—as well as Emilie's parents and seven other brothers and sisters were reported deeply shocked at her untimely death.

"It is a terrible blow to us all," the father said last night. "She was very dear to us."

"I had a letter from her only yesterday," he added, "and she didn't give any indication in it that she was about to be seriously ill. She hadn't been quite herself during recent months—that is one of the reasons why she went to Ste. Agathe to rest and where the air is good—but we were not prepared for anything like this."

Emilie came to the Lac Brule Hotel, where the Oblate Sisters of Mary Immaculate run for old folks, about two months ago.

The funeral services will be at 9:30 a. m. Monday in the Sacred Heart of Jesus Church in nearby Corbeil, with Rev. W. H. LaFrance, the parish priest, officiating.

Emilie will be buried beside her four grandparents in the tiny Corbeil Cemetery.

serious condition in Placid Memorial Hospital.

The two patrolmen were among four officers who surprised the man early Thursday morning in an unoccupied summer home.

The man, in shooting his way out, also wounded Patrolman Dominick Valenze, who also is in the hospital but reported not in serious condition.

Revised Description

Troopers last night issued what they termed a "revised description" of the fugitive: 5 feet 8 or 10 inches tall, medium build, bushy black hair, sallow complexion, and a mustache—possibly pointed. When last seen, he was wearing a trench coat and blue trousers with a knotted belt.

Flanders had been invited to question Parrish but hadn't shown up. Mundt said he had withdrawn the apology.
McCarthy said also that the subcommittee hasn't "gotten all the facts yet" in connection with the promotion and honorable discharge of Maj. Irving Peress, army dentist who invoked the Fifth Amendment when questioned about Communist association.

Newspaper Guild Sets Big Goal to Help Fund

Los Angeles, Aug. 7 (AP)—The American Newspaper Guild has set a goal of $25,000 for fiscal 1955-56 in a long-range program to raise the union's defense fund to a million dollars.

Delegates closed their 21st annual convention yesterday after approving a finance committee report. It said the $25,000 can be raised by increasing dues so that 20 cents per capita is contributed monthly to the defense fund.

The guild's international executive board was authorized to levy further assessments whenever the defense fund drops below $200,000.

Toronto, Ont., was selected for the 1956 convention. Next year's meeting will be in Albany, N. Y.
